Young Men's Initiative

About the Initiative

- The Young Men's Initiative (YMI) is the Mayoral response to an 18 month process of review and research by a commission co-chaired by David Banks of Eagle Academy Foundation and Ana Oliveira of the New York Women's Foundation
- YMI is a comprehensive effort to tackle the broad disparities slowing the advancement of young men of color in NYC
- Public-private partnership totaling $43 Million annually in over 40 programs and policies across 20 city agencies

Issue Areas

- The plan advances four areas where the disparities are greatest and the consequences most harmful: Education, Employment, Justice, and Health

The Chairs of Young Men's Initiative released their recommendations in August 2011
